

Merrick Rosenberg
Personality Styles Expert

Look at Today's World Through the Lens of Personality

Personality plays out in everything we do and Merrick Rosenberg can offer a unique perspective on topics related to business and relationships or current events. Merrick has trained tens of thousands of people in his reimagined version of the personality styles. By linking the classic personality types to four birds (eagles, parrots, doves and owls), he revolutionized how individuals see themselves and the people in their lives.

He is an experienced author, speaker, trainer, and entrepreneur. He is the CEO of Take Flight Learning and has worked with more than half of the Fortune 100 companies. Merrick has been a featured guest on television and radio shows across the country and is a thought leader whose wisdom is often sought to help make sense of trends and events.
