Taking Flight with DISC Facilitator Guide, PowerPoint, and Participant Guide

The Taking Flight with DISC Facilitator Guide, PowerPoint, and Participant Guide have been upgraded! We've added a few more activities, insightful tips, new slides, and a whole new look to the Facilitator Guide to enhance your facilitation and give you more options! This new Facilitator Guide reflects the current best practices recommended by Take Flight Learning, but it's still the same program you know and love. If you're happy with what you're doing, you don't have to change a thing.

Inside the Facilitator Guide, you will find:

- Two new activities for Style Flexibility
- One new activity for Style Overuse (new as of 2021)
- One new activity for Communication at Work for higher-level groups
- More integration of the Taking Flight Profile throughout the program
- Virtual training is no longer an afterthought! You'll find language and tips for in-person and virtual training throughout.
- A complete overhaul of the Facilitator Information section
- Double the number of Chameleon Tips to give you more options to customize the program for your group
- Highlight the concept of the Chameleon with a proper introduction
- Discussion points on the History of Styles and multiculturalism
- Upgrade The Water Cooler activity to The Break Room. It's the same activity with a fresh new look.
- Weave participants' graph results into the Style Polarities for a deeper understanding of style intensity
- Take the Team Dynamics section to a new level with the Team Dynamics Report.

Upgrade your PowerPoint, too!

- Optional new slide for introducing the Taking Flight Profile
- Updated slide with a new image for the Buying a TV activity
- Updated slide with a new image for the Break Room activity
- New slide! Introduce and define the Chameleon
- Additional slides for introducing the Team Grid

And the Participant Guide?

- Cosmetic changes only. You can order new Participant Guides and seamlessly integrate them into your current stock.
- There's a new image for the Buying a TV activity.
- There's a new image for The Break Room activity, along with the title and directions, but the page is formatted identically to the Water Cooler activity.
