

JASON MEUCCI

VP, FACILITATION & COACHING

Inspire People. Build Connection. Create Impact.

Jason helps leaders and teams discover, empower, and recognize the best in themselves and their teammates.

PERSONALITY STYLE

KEYNOTE & WORKSHOP

THE PERSONALITY OF SUCCESS

Most personality style-based sessions focus on letters, graphs, models, and profile results. The Personality of Success focuses on application and transformation.

Using the Eagle, Parrot, Dove, and Owl personality styles, Jason helps audiences understand how personality shapes communication, leadership, delegation, feedback, conflict, decision-making, workplace culture and employee engagement.

Before the session, participants complete the Taking Flight Profile, creating an interactive experience that's highly personalized, immediately applicable and forever memorable.

Even audiences who've previously experienced DISC or other personality style training quickly realize this session is different. Instead of learning labels, participants learn how to tap into the power of style to achieve more success at work and fulfillment in life.

The session challenges leaders to consider an important question: Are you creating an environment where only people like you thrive, or one where every everyone feels valued, respected, and able to flourish?

In this workshop, participants learn how to:

- ✓ Apply personality style to enhance communication, leadership, and team development
- ✓ Adapt their leadership approach to meet the style-driven needs of others
- ✓ Build environments that enable each team member to thrive
- ✓ Reduce workplace tension and interpersonal friction

Learn how to develop chameleon-like flexibility to better connect and collaborate with different personality styles at work, at home, and in life.

PROFILE

Jason Meucci is a facilitator, coach, and keynote speaker who helps leaders and teams create healthier communication, stronger relationships, and more engaged workplaces.

Known for his inspiring delivery and practical approach, Jason combines emotional intelligence, behavioral insight, and real-world leadership experience to help people understand themselves and work more effectively with others. His sessions move beyond theory and focus on application, giving audiences tools they can use immediately.

As Vice President of Facilitation & Coaching at Take Flight Learning, Jason leads programs that help organizations improve culture, leadership, and team effectiveness. Over the last two decades, he has held leadership positions across a variety of Fortune 300 companies.

That experience includes work with organizations such as CNN, Delta Air Lines, Gonzaga University, Tegna, Expedia Group, United Airlines, Johnson & Johnson, Circle K, Trane, and multiple federal government agencies.

His background in talent development, team leadership, coaching, facilitation, and organizational learning allows him to connect with audiences in a way that feels practical, human, and immediately relevant.

Jason holds a Master's Degree in Organizational from Gonzaga University and a variety of professional certifications in coaching, facilitation, talent development and emotional intelligence.

“The power of personality can be transformational for our relationships with everyone from the people we lead, to the people we love.”

- Jason Meucci

